Russia Declares War on Bulgaria Charging Country Harbors Germans

Quick Plunge across Romanian-Bulgarian Border Expected; Neutrality Termed Insufficient

LONDON, Wednesday, Sept. 6 (AP)—The Sofia radio declared today that the Bulgarian government had asked Moscow for an armistice.

The broadcast, recorded by Reuters, said the request was made through the Soviet legation in Sofia only a few hours after Russia had declared war upon Bulgaria.

LONDON, Sept. 5 (AP)—Russia declared war on Bulgaria tonight after repeatedly warning that small nation of Adolf Hitler that her latest attempt to adopt "strict neutrality" was hopelessly insufficient.

With the Red army already straining at the leash along 200 miles of the Romanian-Bulgarian border, a quick plunge across was expected, with Bulgaria's collapse an early likely development.

The Russian declaration flatly accused Bulgaria of harboring German soldiers whom the Red army has chased out of Romania, and with whom it is eager to settle accounts.

Bulgaria, in the Axis camp for nearly four years and a belligerent against Britain and the United States, had refrained from going to war against Russia, a country she long has regarded as her Slavic friend.

Has Been Helping Germans

Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov, however, in announcing the war declaration, declared, "for more than three years Bulgaria has in practice helped Germany in her war against the Soviet Union."

He said Russia had taken into consideration the fact that so small a country could not resist the Germans when they dominated almost all of Europe.

Now, however, Molotov said, "the fate of Germany is decided. The war is completely lost by Germany," and Bulgaria could have been expected to seize this propitious moment to follow Romania and Finland out of the war and "join the anti-Hitler coalition of the democratic countries."

The Soviet declaration had been developing for days past, with steadily sharper Russian press attacks on Bulgaria's recent efforts to squirm out of the war and hang onto the territorial spoils she gained from Greece, Yugoslavia and Romania.

Bulgaria's new Premier Konstantin Muraviev only Monday night broadcast a reiteration of the previous government's policy of adopting a neutral course and ordering the Germans to get out of the country. He said relations with Germany would be broken if the Germans tried to oppose this Bulgarian program.

This shadowy and halfhearted program apparently was the last straw as far as Russia was concerned.

Governor Dewey Will Hold Series Of Conferences

PAWLING, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey will move into New York city tomorrow for a series of last-minute conferences with Republican leaders before entering Thursday morning for Philadelphia where he will open his active speaking campaign with an address that night.

With Republican governors completing tonight a series of radio addresses in behalf of Dewey and his running mate, Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, the GOP presidential nominee expects to cement relations between state and national campaigns on a 6,700-mile tour to the West coast and back.

Before he leaves, however, Dewey is expected to confer at length with John Foster Dulles, New York city attorney who he has designated as his deputy on foreign affairs problems. He also will talk with Herbert Brownell, Jr., national chairman, and other party officials.

Govs. Walter E. Edge of New Jersey, Harry P. Kelly of Michigan and Arthur B. Langle of Washington made radio addresses tonight for the Dewey-Bricker ticket.

Despite assertions made in Congress by Rep. Priest, (D-Tenn.) that Dewey was using the Republican governors as "stooges," the GOP nominee has given every indication that he intends to spend much of the time on his western trip "peppering" the governors to continue a state-by-state drive which aides think will pay off with votes in November.

Dewey Will Unite Reich Is Told Total Mobilization Nation, Governor Will Soon Stabilize Western Front Edge Asserts

NEW YORK, Sept. 5 (AP)—Gov. Walter E. Edge of New Jersey charged tonight that the stress laid by Senator Harry S. Truman, Democratic vice-presidential nominee, on experienced leadership as a reason for re-electing President Roosevelt was "a clear bid for a dictatorship, the indispensable man."

Edge and Republican governors Arthur B. Langle of Washington and Harry P. Kelly of Michigan said in prepared radio addresses, the advance texts of which were released here by the Republican National Committee, that the election of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey as president would unite the nation for the postwar period.

The addresses over the Mutual Broadcasting System (9:15-9:30 Eastern War Time) were the last of a series of three nationwide broadcasts to set the stage for the first major address by Dewey, Republican presidential nominee, at Philadelphia Thursday night.

"Which of the candidates is better fitted for that task?" Edge asked. "A fourth term aspirant who, in all fairness, has failed signally to meet and solve our domestic economic difficulties x x x or a vigorous young executive who has successfully governed a great state and will demonstrate his grasp of foreign affairs—and without previous commitments or possible embarrassing connections?"

Edge, speaking from Atlantic City, said the next president would be confronted with a preponderance of peace-time problems and "we should vote for a president on that basis, not as commander-in-chief."

Gov. Kelly, speaking from Lansing, said the present national administration was "a political administration in every sense of the word."

Gov. Langle, speaking from Olympia, said the New Deal "has passed the prime of its vitality."

It has insulated itself from the people by an ever-growing tier of bureaucrats," he said. "There is a feeling on every hand that our national government is no longer of the people. Four more years of this trend would place a disheartening damper upon our hope for a more bounteous life."

To Probe Spending

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (AP)—The Senate voted unanimously today to let a special committee spend an extra $40,000 to investigate campaign expenditures of candidates for president, vice president and the Senate.

Clerk's Arrest Led to "Blackout" Of Diplomatic Messages in 1940

HYANNIS, Mass., Sept. 5 (AP)—America's diplomatic communications all over the world were "black-out" in the crucial weeks before the fall of France because of the arrest of a code clerk who had access to documents containing "exact and complete" data on England's war plans, Joseph P. Kennedy said in a telephone interview.

Kennedy said that after the arrest in October, 1940, of Tyler Kent, who was sentenced to seven years imprisonment after a trial on charges of violating the British Official Secret Act, it was suspected that Germany had received not only copies of original documents, but also coded copies.

1,500 Documents Copied

It was assumed then, Kennedy said, that Germany had penetrated the code, and thus could have access to any diplomatic messages transmitted via cable or radio anywhere in the world.

The blackout lasted for two to six weeks, he said, until couriers reached embassies with new codes. Kennedy indicated that Italy may have been ordered to stay out of the war for the first fourteen months of the conflict because she was more useful to Germany as a transmission belt for information on Britain's activities.

Army Takes Over Graphite Plant

CLEVELAND, Sept. 5 (AP)—The army took possession at 9:02 o'clock tonight of two plants of the Cleveland Graphite Bronze Company, where a six-day strike of the Mechanics Educational Society of America, an unaffiliated union, has crippled production of bearings for B-29 Superfortresses and other war planes.

Lt. Col. George D. Lynn, chief of the War department's Cleveland Ordnance district, accompanied by a score of other officers, took over the company's principal plant (St. Clair avenue), ran up a United States flag beside the main entrance and posted a notice that the War department had taken possession by executive order of President Roosevelt.

Gains of Eighteen Miles Made by U.S. And French Troops

ROME, Sept. 5 (AP)—American and French troops pursuing the German Nineteenth Army out of Southern France advanced as much as eighteen miles today, sweeping past Macon, a wine center sixty-eight miles north of captured Lyon, and approaching Tournus, twenty miles beyond Macon, Allied headquarters announced.

Speedily the Nazi survivors of the debacle along the Riviera and in the Rhone valley were being driven northeastward toward the German border—possibly into a deadly Allied trap somewhere in the vicinity of Belfort near the Northern Swiss frontier.

An Allied spokesman said the main body of retreating Germans was approaching Chalons, 285 140 road miles still separating the battered enemy column from the German border. Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's American Third Army, driving eastward from Nancy in Northeastern France, was reported less than ninety miles from the which the Nazis hope to escape into the fatherland.

Order To Scuttle The French Fleet Came from Vichy

LYON, France, Sept. 5 (AP)—The order to scuttle the French fleet in Toulon harbor in November, 1942, came directly from Vichy and succeeded through the gallantry of a French lieutenant in tricking a guard and relaying it to Admiral Jean De La Borde under the nose of a German submarine gun, it was learned today.

The exact number of ships sunk—many of which were seen not far below the surface of Toulon harbor when French forces captured the port last week—is still unknown.

At the time of the sinkings all ships were held in the harbor because they were out of fuel and the Nazis who had commandeered the supply refused to let any come through.

The night of November 27 the order to scuttle the fleet was transmitted in code by telephone. A French lieutenant received the order under guard of a German non-com armed with a submachine gun and who was ordered to guard communications but who did not realize the message was coded.

Without waiting a moment the lieutenant telephoned the admiral and repeated the message in code. The ships were sunk that night—every naval vessel in the harbor except one destroyer which was badly damaged.

(Admiral De La Borde was arrested by the Germans at Toulon after the scuttling, but on Dec. 6, 1942, he was reported released on the insistence of Marshal Petain, who subsequently awarded him a medal.)

"That's our tradition," a French source said today. "The French navy has never yielded a vessel to an enemy."

Canadians Stop Strong German Counterattack

Knock Out Score of Enemy Tanks near Rimini on Conca River

By GEORGE TUCKER

ROME, Sept. 5 (AP)—Canadian forces of the British Eighth Army dealt bluntly today with reinforced German armor which attempted to liquidate the Allied bridgehead across the Conca river near Rimini, knocking out a score of enemy tanks and leaving the battlefield littered with Nazi dead as they beat off a series of counterattacks.

Eighth army shock troops, including Poles and Indians, extended their holdings within the enemy's Gothic line defenses and called on the navy for assistance in blasting the Germans loose from their concrete bastions in the Adriatic coastal sector.

All the way from Florence to the Italian East coast Allied infantry and tanks probed and stabbed at Nazi defenses. Canadian troops advanced to within six miles of Rimini, terminus of a vital highway through the Po valley.

Between Florence and the Mediterranean the American Fifth Army, after securing dominating ridges and high hill country east of Pisa, moved forward along a broad front. One column reached the south banks of the Serchio river and approached the outskirts of Lucca, ten miles northeast of Pisa.

Six important roads funnel through Lucca, and the presence of doughboys at its gates represented a gain of more than five miles in that sector.

Teaming up with ground forces, some 1,800 Allied heavy medium and fighter-bombers made a wholesale onslaught against communications in Northern Italy. When they completed their mass destruction few usable highways or railways remained as supply or retreat routes for the Nazis defending the Gothic line.

In an effort to hold the Canadians outside Rimini and to seal off their bridgeheads across the Conca river, the Germans threw the Twenty-sixth Panzer division, a new unit, into a series of counterattacks.

At the height of the fight two British destroyers, the Loyal and Urchin, moved in and bombarded German troops, transports and batteries with more than 800 shells.

The enemy counterattack not only was broken with severe losses, but the Canadians actually advanced another mile toward Rimini.

German Targets Heavily Bombed

LONDON, Sept. 5 (AP)—Huge armadas of American heavy bombers loosed thousands of tons of bombs today on strategic railroads and German defense points just behind the Siegfried line, further straining the already critical Nazi transport problem.

During the day up to 2,000 planes, including fighter escorts, attacked major transport and industrial centers of the Rhineland from the west and south, while other forces maintained a relentless assault on the German escape routes in Northern France and Belgium.

Enemy fighter opposition was exceptionally light and little flak was encountered.

This evening Lancasters of the RAF Bomber Command continued the attacks on enemy troop concentrations, dropping more than 1,000 tons of bombs on German positions at Le Havre.

A force of 750 Liberators and Fortresses from Britain plastered the railroads at Karlsruhe causing fires and explosions visible for miles. The same force blasted the railroads and motor factories at Stuttgart, twenty-five miles to the south-east, and the synthetic oil plant at Ludwigshafen, thirty miles to the north.

Capping the day of wide-flung operations 250 Fortresses bombed the channel port of Brest, where the fanatical German defenders have held out against ground and air assaults for more than five weeks.

England Is Hit By Robot Bombs

LONDON, Sept. 5 (AP)—An eighty-hour lull in the robot bomb offensive was broken by a small-scale attack just after daybreak today, but the British public regarded this as a final gasp from the robot ramps and the general feeling grew that the flying bomb menace was about over.

Despite a government warning to evacuate from London and Southern England to stay away from the homes, the public felt the Germans were striking their last blow before fleeing from the Low countries.

Russian Forces Near Yugoslavia In Swift Advance

Reds, Formally at War with Bulgaria, Are Massed on Frontier

By W. W. HERCHER

LONDON, Wednesday, Sept. 6 (AP)—The Red army raced beyond Craiova in Western Romania less than fifty miles from Yugoslavia today and cracked the tough German line on the Narew river in Poland in a great offensive to bypass Warsaw on the north.

Having formally declared war on Bulgaria, Russia also moved toward invasion of that recalcitrant Axis satellite but kept silent on the latest military developments.

Advancing in Romania at the breakneck speed of more than seventy miles a day, a Russian armored force already was on a strategic springboard for an immediate assault on the Balkans.

The main portion of Gen. Fedor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukrainian Army is believed to be facing the Bulgarians all the way from the Black sea coast south of Constanta westward for 200 miles beyond Giurgiu on the Danube.

115 Miles from Sofia

Capture of Craiova, less than fifty miles east of the Yugoslav border, placed other Russian forces, evidently Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Third Ukrainian Army, less than 115 miles north of Sofia, Bulgarian capital.

On Monday, Joseph Moffat, Associated Press correspondent flying over Romania, said he saw and identified Russian units already well west of Craiova, apparently heading for an early junction with Marshal Tito's Yugoslav partisans.

Tonight the Moscow radio announced that "a new powerful Allied front" was shaping up in the Balkans, with Tito about to strike, aided by the approach of the Red army and drawing help from the Allies in Italy.

Some reduction in the size of the army, now over 7,300,000, is anticipated once Germany is defeated. A meeting of army men with the House committee but little, if any, Senate Military Affairs committee, cut in the over-all size of the navy that is expected until after the defeat of Japan.

The increasing indications that Germany's defeat may not be far off brought talk at the capital that Congress might have to give up in-latter group said the War department would make the outline public at noon tomorrow.

Expressing satisfaction with it, May said in a statement that the committee believes the army plans "have been made solely and only with a view to stand by for the end of the war, fair treatment to all men of the in Europe."

German Defeat To Bring Fewer WPB Controls

Materials Needed To Defeat Japan To Come First, However

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (AP)—The War Production Board announced tonight a decision to scrap virtually all controls over production of civilian goods, once the war with Germany ends.

Anticipating that war production can be scaled down forty per cent, the decision contemplates continuance of controls to get the munitions needed to defeat Japan but giving industry practically a free hand to take what materials are left and make "whatever people want."

J. A. Krug, acting chairman of the WPB, said the army, navy and major war agencies had unanimously agreed on the program designed to provide the utmost stimulus to reconstruction after Germany's defeat, but at the same time protecting production necessary for the Japanese war.

Many Workers To Be Freed

The board estimated there would be a reduction of about forty per cent in war production within three months after the defeat of Germany and that this will free more than 4,000,000 workers.

1. Removal of almost all controls over materials immediately on Germany's defeat except those absolutely necessary to assure the necessary war production to defeat Japan. This means that any manufacturer can use any plants and any materials that are not needed for military production.

2. The War Production Board and other government agencies will use their full powers to assist and encourage industry in resuming civilian production and maintaining employment through the "know-how" of its industry divisions and industry labor advisory committees.

3. The board will maintain its organization and powers so as not to relinquish authority until it is certain that the war production program is adequate for victory over Japan.

Two-Fold Purpose

Krug outlined the program following a meeting of the full board. He said the decision was made after a re-survey of the military and production situation.

In brief, he said the purpose was two-fold:

First to assure full military production until Japan is defeated and second, to free civilian enterprise to the utmost.

Industry will be allowed, according to the availability of markets, men, materials and plants "to do the swiftest and most effective job possible" (Continued on Page 3, Col. 6)

Family Men, Those Serving Overseas Will Receive First Army Releases

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (AP)—First armed forces and that men will be released, once the army begins to cut down on its size, will go to men who have dependents and those who have served overseas.

Senator Thomas (D-Utah) said today, "Thomas, acting chairman of the House committee but little, if any, Senate Military Affairs committee, cut in the over-all size of the navy that is expected until after the defeat of Japan."

The increasing indications that Germany's defeat may not be far off brought talk at the capital that Congress might have to give up in-latter group said the War department would make the outline public at noon tomorrow.

Americans Said To Have Seized Two Keystones Inside Germany

Governments of Holland and Luxembourg Proclaim Entry of Allies; Resistance Stiffens

By WILLIAM F. BONT

LONDON, Wednesday, Sept. 6 (AP)—American armored spearheads were reported probing into two and perhaps three keystones of Germany's west wall last night as the governments of Holland and Luxembourg proclaimed the entry of Allied armies of liberation into their countries.

Unconfirmed dispatches from the French-Swiss frontier said the Berlin-headed Yanks had captured Aachen and Saarbrücken inside the Reich's borders, but Supreme Headquarters continued to cloak operations in this sector with silence and field reports from correspondents with United States troops told of stiffening German resistance along the Moselle river, well back on the French side of the border.

Aachen is seventy miles east of Brussels, the liberated capital of Belgium and Saarbrücken is about thirty miles from Metz. Both are approximately five miles inside Germany. The Americans, according to the report from Switzerland, also were stalling at Strasbourg, French border city on the Rhine.

Eye-witness accounts from Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army said the Americans still were blocked at points on the west bank of the Moselle and had encountered concentrations of artillery fire.

Supreme Headquarters, remaining non-committal about all reports both good and bad in this sector in conformance with its policy of keeping the enemy mystified, announced instead the capture of Namur in Belgium, forty miles from the point where the Americans first crossed this border.

Field dispatches disclosed two days ago that Namur had been reached and Free Belgian broadcasts had been coming from the station there since Sunday.

In at least one sector more than thirty-five miles short of the German border, American forces were meeting determined resistance. A front dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent Edward D. Ball dated from Pont-a-Mousson, midway between Metz and Nancy on the Moselle river, told of a heavy artillery and machine-gun duel during the night between the west bank and the Germans on the east.

South of Namur, elements of Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First Army also took Dinant and Givet on the Meuse river, and fifteen miles to the west of Namur they were in the outskirts of Charleroi.

Canadian forces in a drive for Dover Straits ports smashed reconnaissance units within three miles of Boulogne and were encountering heavy German resistance on the approaches to the city, heavily fortified because the Nazis had expected an invasion there.

The garrison at Boulogne, although hopelessly cut off, is believed to have set up anti-tank gun screens and artillery and mortar batteries for defense of the port.

Polish forces operating under the Canadian command, moved up to St. Omer, twenty miles southeast of Calais and twenty-three miles south of Dunkerque. On this flank it is considered probable the Germans will be able to swing some of their anti-invasion defense units into position against Allied columns advancing from the south and east.

In the long narrow coastal pocket from which some robot bombs were hurled against England Tuesday, elements of three German divisions have been identified and others may (Continued on Page 3, Col. 4)

France May Have Voice in German Occupation Plans

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (AP)—The United States, Britain and Russia are expected to consult France on plans for the military occupation and control of defeated Germany, it was learned today, and the newly liberated country will have a place both in the control organization and in the military forces occupying the Reich.

The three powers will deal with France through the European Advisory Commission, a British-Russian-American organization charged with working out European and particularly German political problems.

One well informed official said that France would not be brought into the European Advisory Commission for the time being but that if it is revised along multi-national lines into an Allied high commission for Europe, France as well as some of the smaller European powers will be assigned membership.

Nor is it expected immediately at least that France will be included in the control commission for Germany, but French representatives will be asked to take important places in the Allied control machinery.

American Troops Are Believed To Be in Germany

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

The pattern of Allied air attacks on Rhine valley communications centers lends credence to unofficial reports that American troops had smashed through the Maaslich and Lorraine gateways into Germany to capture Aachen in the north and Saarbrücken in the south.

The big planes poured their wrath on Stuttgart, Karlsruhe-Durlach and Ludwigshafen-Mannheim, each a vital transportation network for the far east of the Lorraine gateway. Obviously they were paving the way for Allied power blows to break through the Nazi Siegfried line west of the Rhine and reach the Rhine itself on a front that would put the industrial heart of Germany from Essen to Frankfurt at Allied mercy.

The Rhineland loop of the Siegfried line bulges westward between Karlsruhe and the Rhine following the contours of German frontiers with France, Luxembourg, Belgium and Holland from the Lorraine gateway to the Maaslich gap.

Aachen is its Northern Anchor and Saarbrücken its southern strong point.

Large scale German maps show a broad belt highway partially completed well inside the frontiers and shunning all important towns and cities. It could have no economic value and is obviously intended to link together Siegfried line outposts west of the Rhine for quick-shuttling of reinforcements and supplies.

The main Siegfried line lies along the right bank of the Rhine, giving it river front protection. It seems clear, however, that its upper sector from the Swiss border to Karlsruhe where the Rhineland loop takes off northwestward is already feeling Allied pressure as well.

A further inkling of possible new

Allied moves to tighten the screws on Nazism came with British admiralty disclosure of renewed and effective air attacks on the German Battleship Tirpitz in Norwegian waters. It seems clear that recapturing of that sea monster would be essential if an effort is to be made to trap in Norway both Nazi garrison troops stationed there and those retreating from surrendered Finland.

7,000 Surplus Army Trucks Are Sold

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (AP) — Through the co-operation of the War Food Administration and the Treasury department's office of surplus property, 7,000 surplus army trucks have been sold to farmers and truckers for emergency movement of farm products, the Treasury announced today.

One group of "surplus" trucks was routed to Tennessee farmers to transport limestone for soil conservation purposes, and a group of 250 vehicles helped move a large North Carolina tobacco crop which otherwise might have perished. Another group, originally marked for sale in another area, was sent to Charlottesville, Va., where they helped move the peach crop.

More than two million people are directly dependent on forest products for their livelihood.

Many of the famous PT boats are plywood.

A surprise dinner party was given by members of the Emmanuel Bible Class, the Captain French Bible Class and the Loyal Daughters Bible Class of Kingsley Methodist church, last evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Perry B. Gross, in celebration of their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

Mr. Gross and the former Miss Mollie Jenkins were married September 18, 1894, at the home of the bride's parents, Clover Bloom Farm, Baltimore pike, with the Rev. A three-tiered wedding cake adorned with a miniature bride and groom, centered the dinner table, which was decorated with yellow streamers and bouquets of yellow gladioli, pom poms and marigolds, as well as small electric lamps. Covers were laid for sixty guests.

Mrs. Thelma Wigal in behalf of the members of the three classes, presented the couple with a lace tablecloth.

An entertainment program was presented and included the singing of "Love's Old Sweet Song," "Long, Long Ago" and "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," substituting the names of the couple by a quartet composed of Mrs. Adelaide Messman, Mrs. Olive Dorn, Mrs. Helen Robinson and Mrs. Zimmerman, with the latter accompanying at the piano.

A mock wedding was also held with Miss Lottie Rollins representing the bride; Herman Curry, the bridegroom; Mrs. Olive Nichols, the bridesmaid; Mrs. Leoda Gurley, the best man; Mrs. Lloyd Wood, the ring bearer; Mrs. Ora Tenner, the flower girl; Mrs. Marguerite Albertson, a mischievous little girl, and the Rev. be in the trap. The encirclement of these Germans was completed when the British took Antwerp, virtually intact.

The Germans displayed such haste in leaving Antwerp that they apparently did not have time to complete demolitions. But the great port cannot be used until the Germans are driven from other fortress points commanding the Scheldt river estuary.

As the British and Americans registered these gains, Luxembourg's prime minister broadcast a triumphant welcome to the Allies and said the Germans were fleeing across the little Duchy toward the Reich.

The Swiss-French frontier dispatches said American armor, which stormed in to German soil from Belgium to Aachen, seventy miles east of Brussels, and into Saarbrücken, five miles across the Reich frontier and about thirty miles from Metz, also was battling in the outskirts of Strasbourg, French border city on the Rhine, seventy miles east of Nancy.

Reports Are Unconfirmed

The American broadcasting station in Europe said in a French-language broadcast that Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's forces "have entered Nancy."

None of these reports drew any comment from the Supreme Command, and so complete was the radio silence from the front that when the news finally is given out, there may well be sensational disclosures.

Headquarters announced only that there had been a general eastward advance from the Verdun region. Carried far enough this advance inevitably would reach Saarbrücken and Germany. In the case of Hodges' First Army troops, the blackout was lifted a trifle to permit a report that in one pocket around Mons in Belgium they had taken 9,000 prisoners and destroyed or captured 1,500 vehicles and forty tanks.

Supreme Court Rules in Favor of C. E. Lawall

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 5.—(AP)—The West Virginia Supreme court today approved in effect the continuation of President Charles E. Lawall of West Virginia university in office until settlement of his suit contesting his ouster by the University Board of Governors.

The court refused 4-1 to grant a writ of prohibition sought by Special Assistant Attorney General Herman Bennett to make ineffective an injunction granted by Circuit Judge Julian F. Bouchelle of Kanawha county. Bouchelle had granted an injunction to bar effectiveness of a board order of June 19 which dismissed Lawall effective August 31.

Judge W. T. Lovins noted that he would have granted the writ.

Lyon, as reported by headquarters today, Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's Seventh Army troops were only about 100 miles from making a juncture with Allied forces from the north last reported at Batsur-Seine, southeast of Troyes.

With the campaign in Southern France virtually ended after three weeks of unbroken Allied triumphs, it was announced that the total of Nazi prisoners had passed 65,000. A week ago it was officially estimated that more than half the German Nineteenth Army had been killed, wounded or captured.

Resistance by enemy rear guards appeared to be diminishing above Lyon. French troops, moving up the west bank of the Saone, took 2,400 prisoners in occupying one town, Villefranche.

Experience Theme

Doesn't Hold Up

TWO PLAIN FACTS undermine the sing-song contention of the fourth-termers that Mr. Roosevelt should not be replaced after his seven years in the presidency.

One is the inconsistency of the middle-of-the-stream argument on the score of experience. This is stressed by Senator Truman as vice-presidential nominee, who, himself, is a horse changed in midstream. Hatched to the argument is the contention that, as Truman said, the country cannot afford at this time to choose for president "a man who lacks experience." But here again, Truman's candidacy stands in bold contradiction for the reason that his own experience does not appear to qualify him for the vice-presidency or possibly also for the presidency, which is the more important consideration.

The other fact is the falsity of the argument that Mr. Roosevelt's long experience in office qualifies him alone to deal efficiently with the problems that will confront this country during the next four years. This is substantiated by the fact that the Roosevelt administration, after three terms of experience, is not efficient.

"The president," points out the New York Herald Tribune, "has a flair for the perception of national and international problems. He has always been able to outline broad policies persuasively; to illuminate great needs in glowing language; to ask the right questions of destiny. But in giving the answers, in clothing skeleton plans with the stuff of life, he has been and still is lamentably weak. The creaking and groaning, the frictions and malfunctions, which have attended the operations of virtually every agency improvised to deal with total war—to go no farther back into the history of the new Deal—bear evidence to this palpable shortcoming. The skill in the handling of subordinates, the organizing ability which should, on Senator Truman's showing, be the products of experience, have failed to make their appearance in Washington after twelve years."

And, resulting from this, a vast bureaucracy has been built up under the constant aim of the administration to centralize all authority in Washington, which constitutes a grave menace to our ideals of representative government. As the New York newspaper puts it, the combination of a massive bureaucracy and a president with unlimited tenure constitutes "a fundamental danger to the republic which no argument of superficial efficiency can stand."

How Will Hitler

Meet His End?

POLITICAL WRITERS in most countries, Germany excepted, are engaged in speculating what will happen to Hitler. Correspondents, news writers and commentators have endeavored to the utmost to predict the end of der Fuhrer.

Their guesses include all popular possibilities. Emil Ludwig, the ex-German historian, believes that Hitler will be killed by the Junkers unless the German people beat them to the draw. Others predict that he will commit Nazi hara-kiri. Another prediction frequently made is that he will be captured by the Allies, tried and either executed or imprisoned as was Napoleon on St. Helena.

As the Austrian corporal has a strong urge to play to the grandstand, he may end his career in a spectacular manner. Many guess that he will take refuge in Argentina and a few suggest Spain, Sweden and Switzerland also are mentioned. Disguised, Hitler might disappear and create a nine-day or nine-year mystery.

Few guess that his ending will be commonplace. No one believes that he will come to the end of his days in front line of a battle.

Prussian Militarism

Must Be Uprooted

EAST PRUSSIA has been advised by their Nazi overlords to dig in and save the "sacred soil" of that part of the Reich. But that soil isn't so sacred as implied. Part of it represents loot from others.

Prussia owed its position of domination within Germany in considerable part to the three partitions of Poland during the latter years of the Eighteenth century. By the first partition, Prussia obtained some 20,000 square miles of territory that separated Pomerania from East Prussia along the Baltic sea. The second and third partitions added some 40,000 square miles of territory and about doubled the size of Prussia as it existed before the partitions.

The rise of Prussia dates from 1701 when the Elector of Brandenburg had himself crowned as Frederick I, "king in Prussia," with the reluctant consent of the emperor at Vienna. Under his son, Frederick William, and his grandson, Frederick the Great, the Prussian military establishment became a model for Europe. It was well-drilled and equipped; its officers were chosen from the nobility and carefully educated. The Prussian armies were humbled by Napoleon, but their prestige was restored by the six-weeks war with Austria in 1866 and the easy victory over France in 1870-71.

Prussia's power was reduced by the losses of World War I and the distribution of voting strength in the Reichstag under the Weimar constitution. But Prussian militarism again achieved supremacy within the Reich when Hitler was brought to power in 1933 with the support of the Prussian Junkers, the Ruhr industrialists and the old military caste.

Prussian militarism must be eradicated now if peace is to be preserved in the world and this represents one of the obvious tasks of the Allies. It should be completely uprooted so that it never will rise to plague the world again. Partition may help, but the main thing is to destroy the system of landed estate primogeniture whereby the militaristic nobles are enabled to perpetuate themselves in power.

Crucial Days Of the War

THE NEXT TEN DAYS OR SO may be the crucial days of the war. Anything can happen, especially the end of all German resistance. The rapidity with which American forces swept through France made it clear that the Nazis would not be able to put up even a token resistance at the German border. Hitler needed something to trade for time, and he did not have it.

In Washington, the European war already has been wiped off as the past. Even the boys who, until a week or so ago, were repeating with punctilious regularity that the war was far from won, have been silenced. Their cracked record has been discarded.

End of fighting in Europe will pose a plethora of problems of re-conversion for which no solution is in sight. It was the thing that is happening now that was foreseen by Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board, and for which he attempted to prepare. He was defeated at every turn by the bureaucrats who feared loss of power and loss of their jobs. He is now in China.

Will the drafting of 18-year-old youths, never popular, be continued? What about war factories turning out equipment designed for the European front, and which may not be usable in the different type of warfare in the Pacific?

What about food rationing? Reports are that food is piling up in unanticipated quantities because requirements of liberated countries are not as great as had been anticipated.

Will war workers be kept at their jobs to prevent widespread unemployment because plans are not available for immediate resumption of civilian goods manufacture? These are some of the questions that now confront the nation. It will be interesting to see what answers to them are proposed.

No Asylum Likely For War Criminals

THERE WILL BE no hiding place in Spain for the enemies of the Allied countries, according to Juan de Cardenas, Spanish ambassador to Washington. Switzerland, too, has indicated that it has no intention of becoming another "Holland" after this war, having ruled that persons who have committed "despicable acts" will not find refuge there.

These neutral countries have thus sensed a firm and positive attitude with respect to the Axis gang leaders. Certainly they can realize that a willingness on the part of any neutral to harbor war criminals would lead to serious difficulties with the Allied nations.

Holland gave asylum to Kaiser Wilhelm after the last war and nothing was done about it, but, unfortunately, a lot of other things were overlooked then which should have received attention. It is extremely doubtful that the Allies will this time stand by and see that happen again without taking steps to prevent it. Neutral countries have already been warned that such action would be regarded as unfriendly to the United Nations.

Neutrals must realize that their own best interests will be served by refusing to help the fleeing Nazis, who, when another opportunity presented, would try again to start Germany on the road to conquest—a conquest that might engulf them. The Allies should, as they likely will, remain adamant about the harboring of these destructive warmongering criminals.

There seems to be a friendly controversy over whether Canada or Australia has the prettiest girls. This amazes Americans who wonder why there should be such a terrific battle over second place.

In Honduras a mountain is shrinking while in Mexico another is expanding. Couldn't be some sort of Lend-Lease could it?

What, our curbsone philosopher demands to know, do the post-war planners plan to do about those radio commercial jingles?

Would You Trade?

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Envious? . . . Wish you had what the other fellow has? His money? His job? His personality? His abilities?

All those possessions you wish were yours instead of his? But would you actually be willing to change places with anyone on earth?

Suppose someone came to you and said:

"Let's trade. I'll be you and you can be me—from now on, forever and ever. I'll have your soul and you can have mine. I'll have your dreams, hopes, memories, experiences, your possibilities for change and improvement and happiness and immortality—and you, by becoming me, will have all those possessions that are mine. How about it?"

Well, would you trade? . . . You know you wouldn't.

You know yourself fairly well. You know what you've been trying all your life to do. You know where you've failed or succeeded. You do not love yourself and you know more depreciable facts about YOU than anybody else could possibly know, but some day you hope to do something worth while.

So you'll not trade. You'll play your own game. You'll be the small boy who refused to be helped up the stairs and says he "wants to do it by self"—and stumbles and bumps his nose—and goes back and does it all over again—screaming, as he succeeds, that he did it "by self."

You'll not trade unsought—unless the small boys trade their knives. Your knife isn't much but you've used it and you feel at home with it and you know just what it will do. . . . And so it is with your own self, with your own soul. You'll not change places with anybody—and what's the use of talking about it?

Well, then, why are you growling? And what's the percentage in being envious of ANYBODY?

Primary Blame for Shelving Byrnes Is Placed at the Door of Boss Ed Flynn

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 — The story of what happened at the convention of the Democratic National convention may be a long time coming up in full.

The perplexing series of events which killed Vice President Wallace who bore Mr. Roosevelt's fresh benediction, strangely caused the unexplained withdrawal of the president's right hand man Jimmy Byrnes at a time when he had more delegates than anyone, and then suddenly brought Truman out of nowhere for the prize, will require a lot of personal explaining from the participants who are not yet ready to talk. But most of it can now be told with the necessary assurance of competent anonymous authority, to wit:

Precisely the same thing happened as in 1940 when the president void number of possible running mates that he favored them, but this time apparently he put much of it in writing.

The president's public endorsement of Wallace in his letter was made with the full knowledge that Wallace, unquestionably, could not be nominated.

Roosevelt Advised

About two weeks before the convention Democratic National Chairman Hannegan had advised Mr. Roosevelt that Wallace either should not or could not win—I think it was "should not." The liabilities of Wallace were well recognized. Naturally then, official thought turned to Byrnes, who had retired from a life job on the supreme court to function in fact as Mr. Roosevelt's vice president without the title, handling all economic and many political war matters from the White House and already authorized to handle postwar demobilization.

In private conversations, Mr. Hannegan quoted the president then as preferring Byrnes to any other man mentioned, a natural consequence of the way Mr. Roosevelt had seemed to be grooming Byrnes to take over.

Several of Byrnes' friends also heard the same thing directly from the president.

Upon these overtures, Byrnes became interested and privately became a candidate. I think Kelly and Hague worked for him, as well as

ENVOY TO FRANCE?

WASHINGTON DIPLOMATIC SOURCES forecast the appointment of Norman Armour, acting chief of the State department division of Latin American Republics, as United States envoy to the provisional government of France.

many congressmen with whom he was exceptionally popular.

But at that time (a few days before the convention) New York's Ed Flynn went to the president and opposed Byrnes on the ground that the negro voters would object to any southerner on the ticket and this would impede his campaign for Roosevelt in New York state. I think he said the acceptance of Byrnes would lose New York state for Roosevelt.

One Letter Known

Now the Byrnes people knew of the coming Wallace letter but knew nothing of a Truman-Douglas letter which was written by the president the same day, July 13, before starting on his secret trip west, although this Truman-Douglas endorsement was dated six days later, July 19, the day the convention was to open.

The Byrnes people thought they had direct assurance the president would not express a preference for anyone except Wallace.

Knowing some of this I wrote a column at the time assuming Byrnes for the job, but just as the column was reaching print Byrnes had unexpectedly withdrawn.

My assumption had been based on knowledge that when Mr. Roosevelt secretly went through Chicago and had his pre-convention conference with Hannegan out in the railroad yards a conference not divulged for days because of voluntary censorship on Mr. Roosevelt's movements, the president told Hannegan that he and his friends could go ahead and support Byrnes for the nomination, but adding that before publicly announcing their support they should "clear" the matter with CIO, particularly Hillman.

Liability Declined On

Hannegan telephoned Mr. Roosevelt on the Pacific coast about the stand taken by Murray and Hillman, and Ed Flynn also phoned the president reiterating his views.

The president then informed Hannegan that Byrnes would be a political liability and should not be nominated—that Hannegan should go ahead with Truman. The Byrnes people were so informed, and he withdrew. These facts will come out officially when the participants start talking.

Personally I have been interested because I had been caught on a limb predicting Byrnes, a unique position I never enjoy.

But the story explains much of the recent news—the reported dissatisfaction of Mr. Byrnes, his statement that he would not be postwar demobilizer although he already is it a printed report that he will retire after election, January 1 and return to private law practice after having given up the supreme court for Mr. Roosevelt, a fact which makes me doubt that this will come to pass, and also the rise of Senator Truman out of nowhere.

Pettengill Scores Economic Death Sentence System

By SAMUEL R. PETTENGILL

Fourteen hundred transit workers in Philadelphia have resigned from their union because they believe their leaders let them down before the public in the recent strike in that city.

Without condoning strikes in war time, which have many times condemned common justice now requires a scrutiny of the arbitrary way in which workers and their gets food, clothing and heat. And in no case does our criminal law deprive the innocent wife and children of a murderer of the necessities of life.

Yet that is what is happening to the families of workers as their men folk are being put on the military blacklist, although they have committed no crime, nor even been charged with crime. Without trial, without any right of appeal, without a day in court, an economic death is being enforced against them and their families by depriving them of the right to be employed by anyone, which is the right to live.

Justice, said Daniel Webster, is "the great interest of man on earth." It is the bond that unites society. When men feel they have been fairly dealt with, they will remain loyal to their government and to each other.

Webster also said: "God grants liberty only to those who love it, and are always ready to guard and defend it."

Russian-Finnish Truce Is Hailed As World Peace Step

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 — More important to the world than the fact of Finland's withdrawal from the war is the method used in arranging a truce with Russia.

For this Secretary Hull deserves the tributes of his countrymen, and Marshal Stalin the applause of the whole world for his sensational exhibition of forbearance in dealing with a smaller nation with which Russia has been at war.

The influence of the United States has been exerted constantly for the last several months in the hope of securing for Finland an honorable peace and for Russia the removal of an enemy from her borders.

Hull Severely Criticized

There were times in recent months when the secretary of state was criticized vehemently for abruptness and even hard-heartedness as he found it necessary in order to gain Russia's confidence to break diplomatic relations with the Washington representatives of Helsinki's pro-German government. Everyone in Washington liked Ed Hannegan. Procopie but he was, after all, the agent of a government that was playing Germany's game.

Once the Finns came to understand that the United States was in earnest and that the Finnish-German alliance had to end, and once Russia saw that the United States was concerned only with the larger picture and would insist on the independence of small nations like Finland, the road to a truce was opened.

It will be noted that "unconditional surrender" was not demanded of Finland by Russia. It will be noted that the boundaries for the present were fixed on the 1940 basis so that Finland is not penalized for the mistakes of her governmental leaders who bowed perhaps involuntarily to Berlin's dictation.

Tremendously Significant

The episode is tremendously significant. Those who have been portraying Stalin and Russia as greedy for territory and as eager to trample on the rights and aspirations of small nations must now revise their judgments. It augurs well for the peace of the world that Russia can give in the midst of these passionate days of self-restraint such an example of self-restraint and such a profound manifestation of the wisdom of seeking revenge upon a weaker neighbor.

Finland and Russia must live side by side geographically. Unquestionably there will be a residue of bitterness but Russia has shown herself magnanimous and broad-gauged in victory. It will help to reduce the resentment on both sides of the border.

What went on behind the scenes will probably never be revealed in detail because Moscow and Washington had ever so many conversations and exchanged numerous memoranda on the perplexing subject of Finnish peace. But the objective was never lost sight of and the American government never relaxed its concern for the Finnish people whose interests it has tried hard to protect.

Hope for Security League

Whether the ultimate peace treaty will be a diplomatic concession by Russia to her new friend in the world — the United States — or whether it is the forerunner of many another example of Russian-American co-operation, the American people can justly hope that one by one the obstacles to the smooth functioning of an international security league will be removed. One such obstacle has been distrust of the manner or method by which larger countries would use their power. Every new evidence of unselfishness builds firmer the foundation of mutual trust.

There is every reason why Finland and Russia, as well as Russia and the United States, should look upon the truce just concluded as a milestone in international behavior. Again, for the patience, foresight and perseverance of Secretary Hull in the face of uninformed criticism there should be in America a warm expression of gratitude.

Marriage Is Announced

An agreement made between the executors and trustees of the estate of the late D. E. Offutt, and Karin S. Offutt, his widow, also mother and guardian of D. E. Offutt, III, has concluded all legal proceedings now pending in the courts of Maryland, and makes definite settlement of all controversies. It was learned from a copy of the proceedings filed in the Garrett County Circuit Court.

Controversy the past year following the death of D. E. Offutt, on August 20, 1943, has been over a pre-nuptial agreement, over possession of furniture and other household belongings in the Offutt home, over attempted eviction proceedings and other matters.

The agreement was signed by W. R. Offutt, and Neil C. Fraley, as executors, also as trustees; and by Karin S. Offutt, as widow, and also as mother and guardian of D. E. Offutt, III. Contents of the agreement of particular interest include the following, according to the records in the court house:

Agreed that a paragraph in the ante-nuptial agreement, made December 27, 1928, be altered and modified to the effect that Karin Offutt would receive $5,000 per year ($416.67 per month) or if she remarried the amount would be reduced to $2,500 per year, in full of any and all claims on the estate. The previous wording was to the effect that if she remarried she would be paid a lump sum of $10,000 and annual payments would cease.

Following Mr. Offutt's death, Mrs. Offutt had elected to take her legal share of the estate in lieu of the ante-nuptial agreement and had asked that the agreement be null and void, declaring she was unaware of the implications in it. This bill of complaint had been answered by the executors and trustees who charged that Mrs. Offutt had full knowledge of all facts about her husband's wealth at the time of the ante-nuptial agreement.

Also agreed that executors would pay $5,000 to Mrs. Offutt to August 20, 1944, with monthly payments to be made thereafter.

Agreed to pay Mrs. Offutt $12,500 in cash, to pay from that all legal services given by her attorneys.

Agreed to pay $1,200 maintenance, education and support of D. E. Offutt, III for the past year, to August 20.

Agreed to right, title and interest in all household furniture, furnishings, equipment, and other personal property now used in connection with the Offutt home on Second street, to go to Karin Offutt.

Agreed that costs of legal proceedings now in courts be paid by executors.

Agreed by Mrs. Offutt to give up possession of Offutt home within six months.

Agreed to $100 per month to be paid to Mrs. Offutt for support and maintenance of D. E. Offutt, III as long as he is at the present residence, and $150 per month, as long as maintained elsewhere. It was added that Mrs. Offutt might apply to the circuit court for additional maintenance when necessary, and that executors would pay tuition fee if the child were enrolled in a private school.

The agreement also stipulated that Messrs. Offutt and Fraley were appointed guardians of the estate but not of the person of D. E. Offutt, III.

The agreement was signed on August 24, and ratified by an order of court on August 25. Attorneys for Mrs. Offutt were Walter W. Dawson, Oakland; and William A. Gunter, Cumberland.

IT'S A SPIRIT that rises to accept each new challenge with dignity.

It's a spirit born of vision. Of a love of freedom so great it transcends human hopes and fears. And makes any sacrifice worth while.

It's the spirit that tackles all kinds of Army jobs. Humbly. But with a joyous pride.

A spirit that has its eyes on Tomorrow—a spirit that has won the eternal respect of the Army of the United States.

This is why General Eisenhower has said:

So They Can Eat

PART of Southern States' operating territory has suffered drouth damage as bad as last year's. To help farmers when they need help most, Southern States has done these three things:

1. Reorganized its Hay Purchasing Program to provide emergency hay at lowest possible prices. The Government is not subsidizing hay this year.

2. Lowered price of Southern States dairy feeds and poultry mash. Manufacturing costs have been squeezed and Cooperative Service Agencies have voluntarily lowered handling margins. In some cases the protein content has been increased, which actually lowers ingredient costs. The result: Dairy feed has been reduced as much as $2 to $3 a ton, and the price of poultry mash lowered somewhat less.

3. Opened its doors to new patrons... for the first time in two years, Southern States is in a position to accept feed business from new patrons with the assurance of protecting them on their future needs.

Pitt-Cards Still Need Quarterback To Run "T" Plays

Steeler Mentor Promises Real Battle for All League Rivals

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers-Chicago Cardinals combine of the National Football League, is going all out on the "T" formation this year and all that's needed is a quarterback smart enough to do what's expected of him.

Coches Walter Kiesling, Steeler mentor, sized up the team today and said things were not too good, but they could be worse—much worse.

"We will give all rivals a real battle," Kiesling declared.

However, we have several positions where we certainly need bolstering. Failure of Rucinski and Curran, the starting ends of the Cardinals last year, to report this season, has wrecked our plans for the terminals.

Waller Master, who was playing college ball at the University of Pennsylvania more than a decade ago, has had to shoulder the quarterback job almost exclusively.

The huge coach then prophesied: "If we get a quarterback that can handle the stuff we're using, we'll be all right. If not..."

But both he and Phil Handler, the Cards' coach, agreed "it's too early" to make a forecast for the season.

It won't be until the combine meets the Philadelphia Eagles at Shibe park Tuesday that the boys show what they can do under fire with their newly-adopted "T" formation, Handler said.

The coaches brought their thirty-man squad here yesterday and will drill them at Moore field until they leave Friday for Philadelphia.

Middlecamp Gains Tennis Semi-Finals

Lawrence Middlecamp reached the semi-final round of the men's singles division of the Allegheny county championship tennis tournament Monday by defeating David Weiss, 6-2, 3-6, 6-3.

Joe Cronwell went to the quarter-final by turning back Norman Sell, 6-1, 6-1, and will oppose Charles Jones this weekend when the latter and Middlecamp return to Cumberland for the final rounds of the tourney.

Yesterday, Jack Evans won a three-set opening-round affair from Gus Brust, 6-3, 3-6, 7-5. Evans will play the winner of the recent city tournament, Dr. E. A. Smith, tomorrow evening at 6:30 at the Dingle.

Maurice Bernstein, winner of the recent city tournament, will be at another Frostburg player, Oberlin Chaney, at 6:30 tomorrow at the Dingle.

In another first-round battle yesterday on the Garlitz courts, Bill Harrison eliminated John Woods, 6-1, 6-1.

In the only women's singles match reported to date, Joan Rilling defeated Mary Louise Buzzell, 6-2, 7-5. Katherine Chiffelle and Jimmy Hale, playing in mixed doubles, won from Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Counihan, 6-0, 6-4.

Pensive Bows Tendon; Is Through for Year

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Trainer Ben Jones announced today at Chicago that Pensive, winner of the Kentucky derby and Preakness but beaten in his last eight starts, had bowed a tendon in last week's Washington Park handicap.

The three-year-old star will race no more this season, but an effort will be made to bring him back next year, Jones said.

Today's Washington park feature, the $4,000 Hyperion at six furlongs, went to Mrs. T. D. Grimes's High Resolve in 1:10 3/5 for a $740 prize. It was High Resolve's fifth win in six starts. Mrs. V. E. Smith's Sirius was second, a length back, and Henry Tikuski's Holdall was third.

Gerber Is Elected Bainbridge Captain

BAINBRIDGE, Md., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Chief Specialist Elwood Gerber, 210-pound tackle from the University of Alabama and former Philadelphia Eagles player, was unanimously elected captain today of the Bainbridge naval training center football team.

Gerber, a native of Napier, Ill., had just returned from a tour of sea duty. He was a regular on the undefeated Commodore football team last year.

Aging Crosetti Sparks Yankees In Pennant Race

Veteran Shortstop Transforms Floundering Club into Winner

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—(AP)—For the second straight year Frankie Crosetti, shortstop for the New York Yankees, has wired his aging throwing arm together, oiled his squeaking knee joints and transformed a floundering ball club into a winner.

It wasn't until midsummer that the 34-year-old San Francisco veteran forsook his West coast job and reported to Manager Joe McCarthy's struggling charges at Coney Island, July 23.

Still nine and a half games from the league-leading St. Louis Browns and resting in fourth place on Aug. 13, the Yankees climaxed their late season drive yesterday by defeating Philadelphia twice and moving out in front of the pack.

A year ago Crosetti couldn't play for the first month of the season because of a suspension, handed down by Commissioner K. M. Landis following the 1942 World Series. But after joining them he steered the club to the pennant and World Series championship.

Always a holler guy but only a 246 hitter in his previous twelve years with the club, Crosetti has retained his enthusiasm this summer while discovering new power at bat.

His home runs, 10, and the bases loaded spilled Cleveland late in August and his four-master with two out in the last of the ninth brought a 4 to 3 decision over Washington last Friday. He's hitting .254 for 1944.

Cards, Reds Swap 4 to 0 Shutouts

CINCINNATI, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Two pitchers threw shutout victories tonight to become twenty-game winners as the Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds, divided a two-night doubleheader. Mort Cooper, aided by two home runs, took the first game, 4 to 0, and Bucky Walters, Cincinnati's dependable right-hander, hurled the nightcap to give the Reds a 4 to 0 shutout.

Bucky Walters, Cooper's twin-night doubleheader, took the second game, 4 to 0, and Bucky Walters, Cincinnati's dependable right-hander, hurled the nightcap to give the Reds a 4 to 0 shutout.

Tommy De La Cruz then retired the next eight batters to face him, striking out the side in the sixth. Musial opened the ninth with a single and ambled home ahead of Danny Lithwhier who hit his second home run of the year.

Tonight's victory in the nightcap marked the sixth time Walters has defeated the league champions this year. The scores:

Queen City Nine Seeks Last Half Honors Sunday

Brewers Need Victory over Midland To Reach Pen-Mar Playoff

The Cumberland Orioles, first half winners of the Midnet Baseball League, yesterday became 1944 champions when they defeated the Frostburg Hillbillies, 5-3, in the third and deciding game of their playoff series on the North End playground diamond.

The Orioles, who won the series opener and then bowed in the second clash at Frostburg, collected seven hits from the offerings of Nelson and Parrady. Meanwhile, Johnny Walman, Oriole ace, was setting the Mountain City outfit down with four blows—singles by Parrady, Nelson, Arnone and Thomsen.

The local team sewed up the game in the fourth inning when it scored three runs. Mull's double with the bases loaded was the payoff blow. The Orioles counted two more runs in the fifth and Frostburg, which had tallied once in the first, closed out with a pair of

New Quiz Show Will Start Tonight On the Airwaves

Villain of the Piece Will Do All that He Can To Heckle Contestants

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Sept. 5 (AP)—The quiz show "The Villain of the Piece" will start tonight on the airwaves.

The program gets its title from the fact that an actor, identifying himself as the villain of the piece, will do all he can to heckle the contestants and keep them from answering correctly. Otherwise there will be music from Joe Reichman's orchestra, and of course the commercials.

The Blue's recently introduced Scramby Amby quiz, also from Hollywood, is changing to a later time at 10:30. CBS says it is heading on the item about a program that "If You Itch, Listen to Lemuel." In identification thereof, it explains that Lem is the only one Colonel Stoopnagle out of South Norwalk, somewhere on the Connecticut shore line.

Phil Harris is going right ahead with the Kay Kyser music quiz as Kay prolongs his absence from NBC at 10.

The 11:30 spot on NBC and CBS offers drama in competition with concert music. The drama, "Excursion," will be heard by Arthur Hopkins Presents on NBC, with Whitford Kane playing the same role he had when the play was on Broadway. The concert, Invitation to Music, will have Vladimir Golschmann as conductor and Marjorie Singer, French baritone.

Some Early Offerings
NBC—12 noon Words and Music; 2:15 p. m. Today's Children; CBS—10 a. m. Valiant Lady; 1:30 p. m. Bernardine Flynn, news; 5 p. m. with Dunn; 11:30 p. m. Farm and Home makers; 3 p. m. Motion Downey's song; 4:15 Don Norman Show.
MBS—11:30 a. m. Happy Joe and Ralph; 12:30 p. m. Army Service forces; 3 p. m. Real Life story; 4:30 Detective mysteries.

George E. Jordan, Register of Wills, Dies in Hospital

Prominent Republican Was Injured when He Walked against Car

George Edward Jordan, 68, of 409 Furnace street, register of wills for Allegany county since April, 1937, died in Allegany hospital at 6 p. m. yesterday as a result of injuries suffered last Thursday night when he walked against the rear of a moving automobile on Valley street.

Dr. L. H. H. Corson, deputy county medical examiner, said Mr. Jordan's death was caused from shock and internal injuries. He added that he suffered from a laceration of the head, a fractured left leg and multiple lacerations, contusions and bruise burns about the body.

At the time of the accident, police said, E. S. Ralston, Willow Brook road, the driver of the car, told them he was driving west on Valley street when Mr. Jordan walked against the side of the car as he was returning home after visiting a neighborhood store. Ralston told police they said that he did not see Mr. Jordan and did not know the accident occurred until he heard a bump, stopped his car and found Mr. Jordan lying in the street.

To Check Evidence

Last night, State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris said evidence pertaining to the accident will be checked today to determine whether or not proceedings will be instituted against Ralston.

Born in Cumberland June 30, 1876, Mr. Jordan was a son of the late Winfield Scott and Harriet Shuck Jordan. He attended the public schools of Cumberland and the old Allegany County academy and while still in school began learning his trade as a printer on the Cumberland Independent, becoming a journeyman printer.

Mr. Jordan was associated with the Independent in its days as a weekly and later when it became a daily paper, remaining with it until it suspended. Then he became associated with the old Cumberland Daily News and held positions as printer, reporter and finally circulation manager. While a printer, he became a charter member of Cumberland Typographical Union, No. 244.

Named Tax Collector

In 1910, Mr. Jordan severed his connection with the newspaper to accept appointment as deputy tax collector for Cumberland. He held that office for two years and then was appointed state and county tax collector by the county commissioners, serving in that capacity until the close of 1913.

He was appointed deputy register of wills for Allegany county in 1915 by Harvey H. Shuck, on the latter's election to succeed his father as register of wills.

After Mr. Shuck resigned, Mr. Jordan was appointed to the post of register of wills in April, 1937. He was subsequently elected to the office in 1938 and in 1942 was elected to his second term.

Mr. Jordan was a staunch member of the Republican party and for a number of years after 1913 served as treasurer of the Republican State Central committee, and took an active interest in the city, county and state politics.

Organized Baseball Team

An ardent baseball fan, Mr. Jordan in 1913 helped to organize an amateur team and was secretary-treasurer of the Cumberland Colts when they played in South Cumberland. In 1916 the club became a member of the Potomac league and a year later was taken into the old Blue Ridge league which later disbanded because of the First World War.

As a fraternalist, Mr. Jordan was a member of the Cumberland Lodge, No. 211, A. F. and A. M., Antioch Commandery, No. 6, Knights Templar; Salem Chapter, No. 18, Royal Arch Masons, and All Ghan Temple of Shriners. He was a member of McKinley Chapter, No. 12, Order of Eastern Star; Cumberland Lodge, No. 60, Knights of Pythias; Cumberland Aerie, No. 243, Elks; Order of Eagles, and Queen City Council, No. 49, Jr. O. U. A. M.

Widow and Son Survive

Mr. Jordan was prominent in the activities of the Cardinal club, a social and outdoor organization, and had served as its president. He was a member of St. Luke's Lutheran church.

Surviving Mr. Jordan are his widow, Mrs. Nellie C. Rank Jordan, and one son, Charles S. Jordan, at home. Another son, Edwin C. Jordan, was drowned August 4, 1918, while attempting to rescue a woman from drowning in Ely's creek, near Cumberland.

Hunters Protest Closing of Green Ridge Forest

Contend Courtesy Shown Nazi Prisoners Exceeds CCC Camp Youths

A wave of protests from sportsmen throughout Allegany county has followed in the wake of the announcement by Joseph F. Kaylor, state forester, that the Green Ridge State Forest, east of Cumberland, has been closed this fall and winter to all types of hunting.

Kaylor's action, taken with the concurrence of the Maryland Inland Fish and Game Commission, was said to be necessary by the presence on the 30,000 acres of German war prisoners engaged in getting out pulpwood to help relieve the present paper shortage. The state forester stated that danger of accident to these men if hunters are permitted access to the woods, as well as considerations of public safety, have prompted him to take such steps as are needed to prevent the occurrence of incidents that might prove embarrassing to army authorities or harm the community.

Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, says that since the announcement was made by Kaylor he has been flooded with telephone calls from persons protesting the action.

CCC Camp Case Cited

Protestants contend that during the period the CCC camp housed American youths at the same location only a portion of the forest, approximately 500 acres, was posted, calling attention to the fact that hunting was prohibited in a certain area. They add that more courtesy has been shown German prisoners of war than American boys inasmuch as the entire 30,000 acres has been closed under present conditions.

One suggestion made by irritated sportsmen is that a petition be circulated to have the Nazis removed from the county. Others ask that more consideration be shown and that the entire forest not be closed for just 150 prisoners of war.

Some sportsmen are urging that the state refund their county license money in exchange for statewide hunting licenses for the 1944 season.

Wardens Not Responsible

Minke agreed that nimrods are justified in their protests because of the fact that Green Ridge State Forest is the only range in the state in which there is an abundance of deer, wild turkey and all varieties of small game. Green Ridge, incidentally, is also the only public shooting land in the county. Two-thirds of the deer population of the state is to be found there and the deer kills have been increasing annually.

The regional game warden emphatically declared that wardens had nothing whatsoever to do with the closing of the forest to hunting. In fact he said that he has failed to receive official word to this effect from E. Lee LeCompte, state game warden, although Kaylor has jurisdiction over the state-owned forest tracts, including Green Ridge.

Debate on Heller Case Marks City Council Meeting

Lengthy Session Ends in Argument over Civil Service Letter

Hunter B. Helfrich, commissioner of streets and public property, told Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, that Charles F. Heller was not "dismissed" or "furloughed" but that his job was abolished, at a turbulent session of the mayor and council yesterday morning in city hall.

Helfrich then asserted that the former superintendent had not reported at the warehouse for work after August 15. His reply was in answer to Heskett's use of the words "dismissed" and "furloughed."

The weekly session adjourned after almost two hours, in the midst of an argument as to whether the letter from the civil service commission to Heskett is an order of a recommendation.

According to the civil service board's report, Heller is entitled to continue in his present position at the airport until the job is changed by proper appointing officer or the mayor and council. A later section "recommends" that Heller be compensated for lost time.

James Orr, commissioner of police and fire, said the letter should be complied with, adding that the airport never has been under the jurisdiction of the street department. Helfrich abolished the job of airport superintendent which was held by Heller.

Helfrich told William E. McDonald, finance commissioner, that the airport is not under his jurisdiction but under the council he had charge of the appropriation for maintenance.

Commissioner Orr stated that the airport maintenance fund should be in the hands of Heskett and the finance commissioner and that the street department should not have anything to do with the airport at this time. Mayor Post, however, said the appropriation is in the proper place and should stay there until Heskett wants it back.

Following another verbal exchange during which Helfrich told McDonald "you don't know what you are talking about," Orr moved that the order (December 28, 1942, be complied with and the motion passed, 3 to 1. Post opposing. Commissioner William J. Edwards was not present. The order referred to authorized Heskett to proceed in promulgation of any steps needed or desirable in or about the completion of the Cumberland airport, and to this end, shall be and is hereby clothed with full authority.

Helfrich's letter in answer to the civil service board was ordered filed by Mayor Post.

Heller was present in the council chamber and was given an opportunity to talk. He said he had reported to the warehouse and reminded by Helfrich that this was before the job was abolished, Heller asked: "Why should I report at the civil service board? The job was abolished and I was given nothing to work with."

Pfc. Glenn Burton Reported Killed in Action in France

Wife Receives War Department Message on Wedding Anniversary

Pfc. Glenn Burton, 28, was killed in action in France on August 9, according to word received from the War department yesterday by his widow, Mrs. Patricia Hill Burton, 619 Shriver avenue. No details of his death were contained in the government message.

News of Pfc. Burton's death came to Mrs. Burton on their second wedding anniversary.

Teacher Praises Benefits of Work And Study Course

Amazing progress has been made by students of the distributive education work-study course conducted at Allegany high school, according to its teacher, Miss Sara Cleser.

A report on the work was given by Miss Cleser to the Rotary club yesterday at its weekly luncheon at the Central YMCA. Students taking it have a big opportunity for advancement, she said. The most of them are obtaining a practical education such as is given through specialized courses in colleges and universities and such as would probably not otherwise be obtained, she declared.

The course is made possible by means of a federal grant under the George-Deane act of 1937 and sponsorship by the local merchants' association. The act was prompted, Miss Cleser said, by the fact that only ten per cent of high school students were finding their way into college.

The five primary aims and objectives of the course, the speaker said, is to train one to do an efficient job, to attain useful technical information, to get along with people, to understand all real skills and to acquire good selling methods.

Students must be at least 15 years of age, must be in good health, must be working at some mercantile or servicing occupation, must do fifteen hours of work in the classes and at least fifteen hours a week in the occupation. Due schooling credits are given.

An outstanding phase of the course is the preparation of merchandising manuals by the students, each for his or her own specialization. Copies of these were exhibited. The manual represents the student's thesis for work completion. Some prepared at Allegany could well be used for store use, Miss Cleser said.

Visitors at the meeting included Mr. Andreen, Cleveland; Edward Martin, Cumberland sailor home on a furlough, and R. Paul Smith, utility executive of Hagerstown.

FROSTBURG SOLDIER IS NOW IN MCGUIRE GENERAL HOSPITAL

Pvt. Olin Fazenbaker, 30, Frostburg, is back in this country again after eleven months overseas and a personal experience that taught him how little respect the Germans have for the symbol of Geneva, the Red Cross.

Pvt. Fazenbaker, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fazenbaker, 223 East Main street, Frostburg, was among the first patients from overseas to arrive at the army's great new hospital, the McGuire hospital, at Richmond, Va., according to an announcement by Col. P. E. Dugan, commanding officer.

Approximately ten miles out of Santa Maria in Italy, with his unit engaged in repairing damaged ambulances, the young veteran was incapacitated while attempting to dodge the whining bullets of strafing enemy planes. This despite the fact that their target was clearly marked with numerous red crosses.

"The Red Cross symbol of mercy didn't mean anything to them," Pvt. Fazenbaker stated. He was evacuated in one of the same ambulances which his outfit had repaired and was later transferred to a base hospital in North Africa.

On July 9, he was placed aboard a hospital plane headed for the states, and on the tenth, just twenty-three hours later, he landed at New York.

Pvt. Fazenbaker will probably be transferred shortly to a hospital nearer home in accordance with a War department directive which permits returning overseas casualties to choose the general location of their place of hospitalization.

Banks, State Offices Will Close Tuesday On Defenders' Day

Banks and state offices throughout Maryland will be closed Tuesday, September 12 in observance of Defenders' day, a legal holiday.

The observance is in memory of the successful resistance of British invasion of Baltimore in 1814, when Gen. Ross and Admiral Cockburn landed a large force on North Point at the mouth of the Patuxent, and being defeated then opened the unsuccessful bombardment of Fort M'Henry the next day, which inspired the writing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by Francis Scott Key.

Among the local offices affected by the legal holiday closing order are the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board, Public Safety building, and local employees of the Maryland State Health Department.
